Lyndon Group Adds New Practice Area: Financial Management Services

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. – May 12, 2009 – Lyndon Group (www.lyndon-group.com), a premier accounting, finance, Information Technology (IT) and corporate governance professional services firm specializing in high-level project-based engagements, has announced the addition of a practice area specifically tailored for the region’s small and middle market businesses: Financial Management Services.

The need for small and medium sized businesses to produce timely, accurate financial reports and forecasts has never been larger; using financial information wisely to drive consistent growth and profitability over time is key. Lyndon Group’s new practice area is geared for businesses that cannot justify the expense of a full-time experienced financial manager, but need a source of meaningful financial information fully integrated into its business decision-making processes.

Implementing processes outlined under the Lyndon Group’s financial management services program enables businesses to employ faster and better decision making, more effective management and execution of financial processes and goals, reduced risk of fraud and embezzlement, reduced risk of cash flow crisis and increased long term business value.

Elements of Lyndon Group’s Financial Management Services programs include:

- Timely and accurate historical financial reporting

- Prospective financial statements and planning tools (forecasts, budgets, estimates)
- Meaningful and easy to understand reports and graphs for business managers
- Processes that insure financial reporting tools are integrated into decision making

“Having a fresh perspective on a company’s financials can be essential for businesses struggling in our current economic condition,” said Ken Jones, Executive Managing Director, Lyndon Group. “This practice area allows our team to share with smaller businesses our expertise in financial management, without requiring clients to make a major expenditure. We are rolling out several programs designed for the smaller business sector in the coming months to further bolster our local small to medium sized business community.”

Lyndon Group’s practice areas span a wide range of sophisticated financial and IT themes including: accounting, finance and IT projects, audit preparations, acquisition support and integration, risk and internal control, SEC reporting, Sarbanes-Oxley, valuation services as well as ethics & compliance.
