

Barbara Sandoval, Senior Sales Executive, Joins MyPrint Corp. as Western Regional Director of Sales For eTools Division

(IRVINE, Calif., August 1, 2006) – MyPrint Corporation today announced that Barbara Sandoval has joined the organization as Western Regional Director of Sales for eTools, the company's award-winning print management software division.

Barbara brings to the organization more than 25 years of software, technical training, print and management experience. A veteran of Xerox, Mimeo, and Donnelly Marketing, she held senior training, sales, and marketing positions including National Manager for Nike, Nestle, Hewlett Packard and the L.A. Unified School District. Barbara specializes in assisting major organizations with strategic planning and implementation of supply chain solutions. She also has extensive experience in the hospitality industry including having trained personnel for new store openings for Marie Calenders Restaurants.

“The opportunity for growth of our print-on-demand software division, eTools, has necessitated our continued development of our national sales organization,” said Kent Barkouras, CEO of MyPrint Corporation. “We are pleased to have a leader with Barbara's superb qualifications join MyPrint's eTools management team. Her experience is essential to our success given the rapid demand and deployment of our print management software solutions throughout the West.”

Sandoval commented, “MyPrint's superb client list, its excellent reputation and its superiority of product and technology, are among the reasons I am thrilled to join the MyPrint team. eTools is in a very high-growth mode and I look forward to contributing to the cause.
