

Lyndon Group (LG) Joins Forces with South Africa's Gerrit Combrink Of Nungu Trading to Manage Resources for International Projects

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., July 09, 2007—Lyndon Group, LLC (LG), a premier financial consulting firm serving some of the best-known companies in the world, as well as middle-market and emerging growth businesses, today announced that it has enlisted Gerrit Combrink of Nungu Trading as associate to oversee all Microsoft Dynamics AX Systems and Axapta programming for LG's new international projects.

Nungu Trading will be working closely with LG to drive design and implementation of the Dynamics AX Systems program and continue its aggressive expansion into the global market. Working from his South African office, Combrink will play a key role in supporting new development efforts of international companies and feed the growing demand for Microsoft's flagship business solutions.

"Gerrit brings to our team tremendous expertise and international presence, and we are proud to have him spearhead our work on international projects," said Kenneth L. Jones, CPA, founder and executive managing director of LG. "Our work with Gerrit and Nungu Trading demonstrates LG's expanding global reach, which now spans across four continents."

Gerrit's outstanding IT programming and consulting expertise will complement LG's strengths in financial consulting for businesses in the United States and across the globe. Recognized for its exceptional customer service and high caliber consultants, LG specializes in sophisticated project management, Sarbanes-Oxley compliance, SEC reporting, information technology services, audit preparation, acquisition due diligence and integration, internal control outsourcing, lean manufacturing solutions and personnel placement.

A South African native, Combrink is currently owner and senior consultant of Nungu Trading 333 (PTY) Ltd., a firm specializing in Axapta implementation and support for companies in South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and the United States. Combrink was also previously employed by Microsoft South Africa, where he served as product manager and oversaw the entire marketing strategy of Axapta, provided partner support and training of several Axapta courses, conducted presentations and demonstrations, defined yearly targets, and performed partner implementation assistance.
