

The Lyndon Group Announces Double Digit Growth in IT Sector

Project Manager Steve Jenkins Applauded as Driving Force Behind Company Expansion

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., May 3, 2007—The Lyndon Group, LLC (LG), a premier accounting, financial management and IT consulting firm for Fortune 500 and emerging growth companies, today announced that the company has realized double-digit revenue growth for the seventh consecutive year, and a doubling of Associates on staff, and points to the firm's IT department's project manager, Steven Jenkins, as a leading force behind the company's explosive growth.

Jenkins' extensive industry experience and knowledge has led LG's clients to understand how technology planning, process and control methodologies support Sarbanes-Oxley compliance efforts. LG's IT division often works in tandem with the organization's financial consultants to provide seamless financial technology and process integrations for clients.

Recognized for its exceptional business solutions and customer service, LG provides US-based and international companies with consulting services including Sarbanes-Oxley compliance and SEC reporting, project management, due diligence, sophisticated accounting assistance and IT support.

"LG has been experiencing rapid growth across all service sectors over the past several years, however our expansion in the IT sector has been remarkable," said Kenneth L. Jones, CPA and executive managing director for LG. "Having Steve at the helm of this important division for the past few years has proven to be an excellent decision."

Jenkins' responsibilities at LG include assessing technology risks, providing cost-effective recommendations and assisting in the creation of plans for risk remediation.
