20th annual children's book illustration show

Chemers Gallery in Tustin is hosting five prominent children's book illustrators on Saturday. Mary GrandPre has illustrated the "Harry Potter" series and seven children's books featuring lyrical story interpretations in a style she calls "soft geometry." Robin Preiss Glasser, an Orange County resident, is the best-selling illustrator of the "Fancy Nancy" series. Lou Fancher and Steve Johnson are a husband and wife team who have illustrated and designed more than 35 children's books, including "Jim Henson: The Guy Who Played With Puppets." Elisa Kleven is author and illustrator of "The Paper Princess" series and "The Friendship Wish." Raul Colon is a prolific children's book illustrator, and collaborated with local author and bookseller Rueben Martinez on "Once Upon a Time: Traditional Latin American Tales." The event takes place from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free; books and illustrations are for sale. Regular hours are 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Mondays-Fridays, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturdays.
