LA Dining Deals and Events: December 12-18

by Merrill Shindler

Tuesday

If you feel in need of a caffeine lift, but aren't in the mood for Starbucks, drop by SBE's insanely trendy Mercato di Vetro (directly next to The Troubadour), where Jeremy Gursey of the entertainment industry-intensive Mocha Kiss coffee carts has been named "executive chef of fine coffees & teas," serving his own proprietary blend of beans-of-many-nations, with a tableside setup that's more like a science experiment than the standard cup o' joe procedure. And tasty too (310-859-8369).
