Irvine woman champions the elderly, wins award

Irvine resident Lindlee Sims has dedicated the last four years of her life to helping the aging population receive the care they deserve. As an ombudsman for The Council on Aging, Sims helps prevent abuse and advocates for quality-of-life issues in long-term care facilities throughout Orange County. For her compassion, dedication and advocacy, she was named the November 2011 recipient of the O'Connor Mortuary Heart & Soul Award, which recognizes Orange County citizens for their passion for life and their dedication to making a difference. Sims received an official plaque, and a donation will be made in her name to The Council on Aging Orange County's Long-Term Care Ombudsman program.
