Law Firm At 50

Tredway, Lumsdaine & Doyle, a law firm with an office at One World Trade Center, is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

There will be a private anniversary party this month in celebration of the milestone year. The event takes place at the Long Beach office and doubles as a fund-raiser for Arts & Services for the Disabled, Inc.

Tredway, Lumsdaine & Doyle is a law firm that represents individuals and businesses for a full range of legal services, including business and corporate law, employment law, family law, civil litigation, personal injury, probate, estate planning, trust administration, real estate and taxation.

"We are proud to be celebrating 50 years of service," Matt Kinley, managing partner of the firm, said in a release. "Our service extends to our clients, to the community, and to the family that makes up our firm. Our commitment to family is the hallmark of our success."
