TREDWAY, LUMSDAINE & DOYLE LLP COMMEMORATES 50 YEARS IN BUSINESS WITH LONG BEACH CELEBRATION

LONG BEACH, Calif., Nov. 28, 2011— Marking 50 years of acclaimed service, Southern California-based law firm Tredway, Lumsdaine & Doyle LLP will once again celebrate with clients, friends and professional partners. Following commemoration events earlier this year in Irvine and Downey, the firm will host a reception in Long Beach, featuring an art exhibition to benefit the nonprofit Arts and Services for the Disabled.

The firm has maintained a consistent presence in Long Beach for more than a decade and remains a fixture in Southern California, providing legal expertise in a wide variety of practice areas, primarily for private companies, professionals and high-net-worth individuals.

“Our 50th anniversary celebrations have been testaments to five decades of dedicated client service, and we are proud to be celebrating this significant milestone in the communities in which we conduct business,” said Matthew Kinley, partner at Tredway, Lumsdaine & Doyle. “The firm’s 50-year history wouldn’t be complete without a Long Beach presence, so it’s fitting for us to gather here in recognition.”

As Tredway, Lumsdaine & Doyle commemorates the milestone year on Dec. 7, it proudly highlights Arts and Services for the Disabled, which will be marking its 30th anniversary in 2012. Proceeds from the art sold at the exhibition will be donated to support the organization’s efforts to bring creative arts to individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The event will also feature a unique drum circle led by Arts and Services for the Disabled.

Tredway Lumsdaine & Doyle is a longtime advocate of corporate social responsibility, donating employee time and resources to local charitable organizations. Among the many groups supported are The Arc of Los Angeles and Orange Counties, Susan G. Komen for the Cure, Share Our Selves, Second Harvest, Long Beach Memorial Medical Center, Miller Children’s Hospital and the Long Beach Ronald McDonald House.

Attorneys at Tredway Lumsdaine & Doyle provide service from four offices – the original Downey location, Long Beach, Irvine and Beverly Hills. The regional firm’s attorneys are known for their ability to develop long-term client relationships, fulfilling both the professional and personal legal needs of their clients.

For more information about the Tredway, Lumsdaine & Doyle’s involvement with ASD or to learn more about the firm, please contact the Long Beach office at (562) 901-3050. The Long Beach office is located at One World Trade Center, Suite 2550.
